

HIS 1300: The U.S. in Global Perspective

Fall 2022 List of Course Descriptions

The U.S. in Global Perspective: Revolutions! – Johnson

large section

Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism; revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global conflict, with special attention to global patterns of revolution.

HIS 1300-28 (43124) TR 12:30-1:45 Mars McLean Science 101

The U.S. in Global Perspective: Baseball and American Empire – Young

Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism; revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global conflict, with special attention to the development, proliferation, and endurance of conspiracy theories in American culture.

HIS 1300-10 (40407) MWF 11:15-12:05 Tidwell GL04

The U.S. in Global Perspective: The American Civil War - Roach

Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism; revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global conflict, with special attention to the global context and repercussions of the U.S. Civil War.

HIS 1300-18 (40399) MW 2:30-3:45 Tidwell 101
HIS 1300-27 (41329) TR 11-12:15 Tidwell GL07
HIS 1300-29 (44549) TR 12:30-1:45 Tidwell GL07

The U.S. in Global Perspective: Fascism and the Global Americas – Alvarez-Pimentel (may say staff in course listings)

Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism; revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global and globalization.

HIS 1300-23 (41377) TR 9:30-10:45 Draper 353

The U.S. in Global Perspective: History of Nature and the Hunt – Hill

Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism; revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global conflict, with special attention to the complex relationships between Americans and the animals and environments of North America – and beyond.

HIS 1300-01 (40415) MWF 9:05-9:55 Tidwell GL04
HIS 1300-05 (40412) MWF 10:10-11 Tidwell GL04
HIS 1300-20 (41374) TR 9:30-10:45 Cashion C101
HIS 1300-25 (43138) TR 11-12:15 Cashion C101

The U.S. in Global Perspective: International Relations – Wingerd

Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism; revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global conflict, with special attention to U.S. foreign policy, diplomacy, and relationships with other societies.

HIS 1300-17 (40400) MW 2:30-3:45 Tidwell 201
HIS 1300-24 (42990) TR 11:00-12:15 Carol Science 101
HIS 1300-15 (40402) MW 1:00-2:15 Sid Rich 224
HIS 1300-30 (43138) TR 2:00-3:15 Tidwell 101
HIS 1300-33 (45969) TR 3:30-4:45 Tidwell 101

The U.S. in Global Perspective: Declarations of Independence - Benham

Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism; revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global conflict, with special attention to the American Revolutionary era, comparative issues of national independence and identity from the 18th to the 20th centuries.

HIS 1300-03 (40414)	MWF 9:05-9:55	Tidwell GL07	HIS 1300-12 (40405)	MWF 12:20-1:10	Tidwell GL07
HIS 1300-07 (40410)	MWF 10:10-11	Tidwell GL07	HIS 1300-14 (40403)	MWF 1:25-2:15	Tidwell GL07

The U.S. in Global Perspective: U.S. Influences in Global Context – Smith

Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored will include colonization and slavery, immigration and assimilation, industrialization, and globalization, with special focus on the global influences of American political, cultural, economic, and social ideas, actions, and events.

HIS 1300-04 (40413)	MWF 10:10-11:00	Tidwell GL06	HIS 1300-08 (40409)	MWF 11:15-12:05	Tidwell GL06
HIS 1300-21 (41375)	TR 9:30-10:45	Cashion C315

The U.S. in Global Perspective: U.S. Race Theories – Varghese

Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism; revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global conflict, with special attention to the formation of racial ideas and categories.

HIS 1300-02 (40398)	MWF 9:05-9:55	Tidwell 201	HIS 1300-19 (41373)	MW 1:25-2:15	Tidwell 201
HIS 1300-06 (40411)	MWF 10:10-11	Tidwell 201	HIS 1300-09 (40408)	MWF 11:15-12:05	Tidwell GL07

The U.S. in Global Perspective: Anti-Catholicism in America – Gutacker

Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism; revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global conflict, with special attention to religion, immigration, and national identity.

HIS 1300-32 (45968)	TR 2:00-3:15	Tidwell 201
---------------------	--------------	-------------

The U.S. in Global Perspective: Conspiracy Theories – Young

Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism; revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global conflict, with special attention to the development, proliferation, and endurance of conspiracy theories in American culture.

HIS 1300-22 (42966)	TR 9:30-10:45	Tidwell GL04	HIS 1300-26 (43139)	TR 11:00-12:15	Tidwell 204
---------------------	---------------	--------------	---------------------	----------------	-------------

The U.S. in Global Perspective: A Nation of Immigrants - Poor

Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism; revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global conflict, with special attention to immigration and national identity.

HIS 1300-36 (46671)	online asynchronous	HIS 1300-N2* (47463)	TR 8:00-9:15	Location pending
---------------------	---------------------	----------------------	--------------	-------------------------

New Student Experience Course*

The U.S. in Global Perspective: As American as Apple Pie – Campbell (may say staff in course listings)

Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism; revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global conflict.

HIS 1300-35 (45971)	online asynchronous
---------------------	---------------------

The U.S. in Global Perspective: American Music, from Gospel to Garage Rock – Ray

Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism; revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global conflict, with special attention to music as a means of exploring the interplay between the United States and the rest of the world.

HIS 1300-11 (40406)	MWF 11:15-12:05	Draper 347
---------------------	-----------------	------------

The U.S. in Global Perspective: TBD – Waynen (may say staff in course listings)

Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism; revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global conflict.

HIS 1300-31 (45967) TR 2:00-3:15 Tidwell GL01

The U.S. in Global Perspective: A Pacific People, Presence, & Power – Leech (may say staff in course listings)

Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism; revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global conflict.

HIS 1300-16 (40401) MW 1:00-2:15 Location Pending
